The call came at 6pm as everyone was just starting to eat dinner. A group had come down the Marion Mountain Trail and one person was slower and got left behind. While we were on the way to the trailhead the friends had hiked back up a ways and found the missing person. At the same time we got another call for two people coming down the PCT into Snow Creek who were having problems with the heat. So we changed our road head and everyone headed to Snow Creek.
