At 6am the call goes out for our Team President "Glenn Henderson" who did not come back from a hike the day before. Being a normal hiker, he went by him self and did not have much gear with him. The team was told he was going to Pine Cove Park to look at some rock faces that we could train on. Arriving at his car the team looks at his footprints by his car and starts to track him down.

Finding Length of Stride.

After a short search he is found at the bottom of a cliff with a broken leg and some cuts and scratches. First Aid is given and then he is placed in a litter for the ride up the cliff. While this is going on the team at the top sets up a two-rope system for the raise up the cliff.

Two Rope System Ready to go.

Shani is the litter attended and they start to bring Glenn up. The team on top has 3 members on each rope. One running the MPD (Multi-Purpose Device), used for raising and lowering and two pulling.

Mostly Happy Carry Out

Back at base camp the team does a debriefing of how the Mock Mission went. Basically, the Subject did everything wrong. Not telling anyone when he would be back, not having enough gear, and going off by himself. But what do we really expect from our Team President? All in all, a good days training with lots of action for everyone out for the day.
